

SENIOR NUTRITIONIST

This newly created scientific position will focus on nutrition research, public policy analysis and synthesis and information dissemination in support of the almond industry global health strategy. Under direction of the Director of Scientific Affairs, the primary job functions will be to review nutrition research projects, liaise with researchers, analyze and interpret results, write summaries, and communicate research results and progress to Nutrition Research Committee, marketing staff, management and PR agencies. There will be extensive writing for scientific and review articles, position papers and substantiation documents for USDA and/or FDA. Travel will be required to represent the Almond Board at US and international health and nutrition professional associations, related meetings and conferences.

Doctoral level course work in food and nutritional sciences preferred; previous experience in nutrition research and/or public nutrition policy. Salary commensurate with candidate record. Extensive benefits package available. Applicants should send resume, names and contact information for three references, representative publications, and/or reports with cover letter describing strengths and accomplishments to:

Dr. Karen Lapsley, Director of Scientific Affairs
Almond Board of California
1150 9th Street, Suite 1500
Modesto, CA 95354
klapsley@almondboard.com

The Almond Board of California is a Federal Marketing Order under the supervision of the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The Almond Board of California is an equal opportunity employer and prohibits discrimination on the basis of race, color, national origin, sex, religion, age, disability, political beliefs, sexual orientation, marital or familial status. For more information, on the Almond Board of California, please visit our website at www.AlmondBoard.com.